About Gwalior

Gwalior occupies a strategic location in the central region of India. The city offers the visitors a unique style of architecture. The great Rajput clans of the Pratiharas, Kachwahas and Tomars have left ineffaceable marks of their rule in this city of palaces, temples and monuments. The majestic fort, considered as one of the best in the world, located at the heart of Gwalior was built by Raja Man Singh Tomar, of the Tomar dynasty. This formidable structure described as the 'pearl in the necklace of the castles of Hind', dominates the city's skyline with its massive and captivating structure. Gwalior fort also has the Gurudwara DataBandi built in the memory of the sixth Sikh Guru Har Gobind.

Close to the heart of the city is splendid Jai Vilas Palace, patterned on the palace of Versailles; it combines Tuscan, Italian and Corinthian styles of architecture. Gwalior is a well-acknowledged place of art, associated with historical as well as contemporary evidence. Gwalior is famous for its contribution to classical music and known for Gwalior Gharana. It is the birthplace of classical Music Maestro Miya Tansen. The Gwalior Trade Fair takes place every year in the month of December-January, which is the true representation of art, culture and heritage of different states of India. Tourists visit Gwalior throughout the year. Gwalior has a population of approx One and a half million. It is surrounded by 5 industrial areas with various national and multinational companies such as SRF, JK Tyres, Godrej, Cadbury, Ranbaxy and Punj Lloyd. Forming a part of the Heritage Tourism belt, Gwalior is a city of tourist attraction.

Weather and Climate

Gwalior is located at 26°13'N 8°11'E / 26.22°N 78.18°E. Gwalior can be visited from late October to early March without much discomfort. The day temperature of the city ranges between 15 to 25 degree Celsius, and in the nights it can be below 5 degree Celsius during January.

Connectivity to Gwalior

By Air: The Gwalior Airport is situated at 2 km from the Institute. Indian Airlines connect it to important cities like Mumbai, Bhopal, and Delhi.

By Train: The Gwalior Rail-head is situated within the city area. All the metropolitan Cities are connected with each Other through Gwalior, 90 trains ply via Gwalior every day.

By Road: Gwalior is extremely well linked by a good network of roadways and road transport to all the important towns of Madhya Pradesh and adjacent areas. It is well linked with Agra, Delhi, Jaipur, Bhopal, Lucknow, Chandernagore, Khajuraho, Jhansi, Indore, Ujjain and Shivpuri.

Overview of the Conference

“Digital strategy needs to become the essence of business strategy.”

- Accenture Strategy

The term digital is not new now. The businesses have their focus on how they can facilitate their customers for a better connection and output. The businesses need to understand that how they can lead their customers, or more apt to the context, will be how they can follow their customers. Digital strategy is the application of digital technologies to business models to form differentiating business capabilities. Where business digital strategy should include business goals, digital action plan and how digital activities integrate with an overall business plan. In last two decades it has been noted that digital strategies are combination of business models, operational process, and customer touchpoints and these three pillars have been considered very significant for modern businesses.

Following are some eye-opening facts from the recent reports, which coerce the organisers for the conference on digital strategies:

- 87% of companies think that digital transformation is a competitive opportunity.
- 30% of marketers claim that a lack of training in new skills is a top barrier to success.
- 90% of companies claim that the primary benefit of digital transformation is the increase in employee productivity.
- According to Gartner, 40% of organisations claimed they received considerable cost savings from using digital marketing methods to promote their products and services.
- According to McKinley, 90% of all marketing roles now require digital skills.

Conference Objectives

The primary objective of 10th International Conference on digital strategies is to explore the processes, change methodologies, innovation and strategic vision to unfold the positive organizational potential. It is an opportunity for participants to identify the core factors that enable their organization's success and imagine how these can be incorporated as they grow into their constructive potential. Here the term digital comes and later digital strategies were introduced over the time.

This conference brings together a distinguished panel of speakers including academicians from renowned business schools/ Universities/ Institutes, management thinkers, businessmen, industry practisers, and researchers across the world to share their views how global business firms have adopted digital strategies for the organizational success.
